THE NATIONAL PEACE COUNCIL.
(National Council of Peace Societies.)

(Founded in 1907 by the Second National Congress of Great Britain and Ireland, composed of 475 delegates from 125 interested bodies, to effect a closer union of the societies, and to assist them in a sincere and earnest promotion of the World's Peace.)

Societies represented on the Council.

Peace Society.
International Arbitration and Peace Association.
International Arbitration League.
Peace Committee of the Society of Friends.
Peace Union.
Irish Peace Society.
Bristol Peace Federation.
Hampstead Peace Society.
Hitchin and District Peace and Arbitration Society.
Liverpool Peace Society.

Liverpool and Birkenhead Women's Peace and Arbitration Association.
Manchester District Peace and Arbitration League.
Manchester Women's Peace Association.
Scarborough Peace Society.
Anti-Slavery and Aborigines Protection Society.
Boy's and Girls' Life Brigades.
Corden Club.
Humanitarian Leaguer.
National Conference of Unitarian and Other Churches.
National P.S.A. Brotherhoods' Council.
Union of Ethical Societies.

Presidents of the National Peace Congress.
1905: The Lord Bishop of Hereford.
1906: Rt. Hon. Robert Spence Watson, LL.D.
1907: The Rt. Hon. J. E. Ellis, M.P.
1908: Sir W. J. Collins, M.P.

Officers of the Council.
President: Rt. Hon. Lord Weaasley.
Chairman: Mr. A. Gordon C. Harvey, M.P.
Treasurer: Mr. A. J. King.
Secretary: Mr. C. C. Heath.
Assistant Sec.: Miss M. H. Huntsman.

167, ST. STEPHEN'S HOUSE, WESTMINSTER, LONDON, S.W.

Dec. 12th, 1910

Dear Sir Jobat,

May I, on behalf of the British National Peace Council, offer you very hearty congratulations upon the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the Bureau international permanent de la Paix.

This award is a matter of congratulation for the whole peace movement.

Faithfully yours

[Signature]