Where international, state, and/or county boundaries coincide, the map shows the boundary symbol for only the highest-ranking of these boundaries.

1 A ' * ' following a place name indicates that the place is coextensive with a MCD. A ' * ' following an incorporated place name indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name is not shown.

2 This map shows tribal census tract boundaries and numbers within the subject entity; nontribal census tract boundaries are shown outside of the subject entity but without numbers. A tribal census tract is a type of census tract defined within a federally recognized American Indian reservation or off-reservation trust land for the purpose of providing data based on an American Indian hierarchy rather than by state and county. Where reservations or off-reservation trust lands cross state or county boundaries, the same tribal census tract number may be assigned to both sides of the boundary and, if so, constitutes a single tribal census tract entity.

3 A ' * ' following a block number indicates that the block number is repeated elsewhere in the block.
This map shows tribal census tract boundaries and numbers within the subject area. Where international, state, and/or county boundaries coincide, the map shows the boundary symbol for only the highest ranking of these boundaries. Where reservations trust lands cross state or county boundaries, the same trust land name is not shown. A ' * ' following a place name indicates that the place is coextensive with a tribal census tract number, or off the American Indian hierarchy rather than by state and county. Where reservations trust lands are coextensive with a minor civil division (MCD), a ' ° ' indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name and number are shown outside of the subject area. A tribal census tract is a type of census entity; nontribal census tract boundaries are shown outside of the subject area. A ' ° ' indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name and number are shown outside of the subject area. A ' * ' following a place name indicates that the place is coextensive with a tribal census tract entity. A ' ° ' indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name and number are shown outside of the subject area. A ' ° ' indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name and number are shown outside of the subject area.
This map shows tribal census tract boundaries and numbers within the Rosebud Reservation and Off-Reservation Trust Land. The map highlights the tribal census tract boundaries and numbers for the area, with each boundary marked clearly. The map also includes a legend explaining the different symbols used for various features such as Census County Division (CCD), Minor Civil Division (MCD), Alaska Native Regional Corporation (ANRC), Census Designated Place (CDP), State Designated American Indian Statistical Area (SDAISA), Alaska Native Village Statistical Area (ANVSA), and Trust Land.

The map is useful for understanding the geographical distribution of the tribal census tracts within the reservation and off-reservation trust land, providing a visual representation of the territories and boundaries for planning and statistical purposes. The map includes a scale bar for measuring distances and a north arrow for orientation.

The map covers the Rosebud Reservation and Off-Reservation Trust Land, providing a detailed view of the boundaries and census tracts within the area. This information is essential for various administrative and planning purposes related to the reservation and trust land.
The plotted map scale is 1:20000.

This map shows tribal census tract boundaries and numbers within the subject entity but without numbers. A tribal census tract is a type of census entity; nontribal census tract boundaries are shown outside of the subject entity but without numbers. A tribal census tract defined within a federally recognized American Indian reservation or tribal census tract defined outside of a reservation trust land for the purpose of providing data based on an American Indian tribe or tribal organization constitutes a tribal census tract.
